All are invited, especially the young folks, to Allen Acres to view the butterflies. You should see adults, caterpillars, chrysalis (cocoons), and eggs of several different kinds of butterflies from skippers to large swallowtails. And, if you can wait or come back about dark, you could be treated to view one of more hummingbird moths. Just show up anytime and walk around on your own and we will be around to show you the hidden caterpillars, chrysalis, or eggs. Water and access to a bathroom will be provided. Photography welcomed and encouraged. We have models of the monarch butterfly life cycle with cut outs for your face for photographing. Donations to defray cost of butterfly plants are accepted.
